THE TIDE OF FORTUNE.
The prosperity that has extended the period of privation and difficulty that set in with the panic of 1873, continues to astonish all observers. The plunge forward is pronounced to be unprecedented in the annals of American trade. Just as the "good time" that seemed so long in coming set in, in magnificent crops, coinciding with the recovery of Europe, added their mighty influence to fill our coffers, brighten our countenances with assured success, and obliterate the dark era of care and anxiety. Just at the same time the success of the resumption of specie payments was demonstrated, by which our confidence in our own resources was revived, so that resumption converted what would have been a slow recuperation into a rapid dash toward exuberant prosperity. As a contemporary says: "The result of the war is the precious metals, and the paper currency of the country rests on a solid basis—never before more solid than now." Unfortunately, in one respect there is too much activity. The tide of good luck has added millions to our already ample resources, and the tide of good luck has added millions to our already ample resources, and the tide of good luck has added millions to our already ample resources.

REV. DR. H. A. JONES'S SERMON.
The life of a minister is characterized by strange vicissitudes. It has its pleasures and its joys, it has also its sorrows and its sadnesses. Nothing can surely be more painful for a minister who has the confidence and love of his congregation, who has preached to his church for many years, and who has often officiated at the baptismal font, the marriage altar and the grave, to sever his connection with so many souls so beloved and holy. Rev. Dr. H. A. Jones, of this city, is about to pass through that painful ordeal. On Tuesday next, when he will be called to leave his home, he will be called to leave his home, he will be called to leave his home.

THE LETTER.
We publish in to-day's Appeal a letter from the Washington Capital, of Monday, which will attract as much attention at the south as it has at the north. It is said to be the product of Senator Lamar's pen. The letter may be so. There is nothing in it that he could not write without in the least militating against the principles, which he so long contended for on the field and in the forum. The northern Republicans are under the impression that the south is in the wrong. The letter of the Capital is a direct challenge to the south, and it is a challenge that the south cannot ignore.

FROM THE ANNUAL REPORT OF COMPTROLLER KNOX.
We learn that the total number of national banks organized from the establishment of the national banking system, February 25, 1863, to November 1st of the present year, is two thousand four hundred and thirty-eight. Of these three hundred and seven have gone into voluntary liquidation by the vote of shareholders owning two-thirds of their respective capitals, and eighty-one have been placed in the hands of receivers, for the purpose of closing up affairs, leaving two thousand and fifty in operation at the date last named. During the years 1878-79 thirty-eight banks have been organized with an aggregate authorized capital of $3,585,000, to which $2,390,440 in circulating notes have been added. Thirty-eight banks, with an aggregate capital of $4,450,000, have voluntarily discontinued business within the same period, and eight banks have failed, having a total capital of $1,030,000. The involved banks include two, with a capital of $700,000, which failed after having previously gone into voluntary liquidation.

EWING.
Of Ohio, in favor of David Davis for President, and Believes that Grant will be Re-elected.

Washington special to the Cincinnati Gazette.
General Thomas Ewing, of Ohio, was asked to-day by a True Democrat "What are you Democrats going to do in Washington this winter? Make more capital for the Republicans?"
"I should hope not," answered Ewing, with a comical twinkle in the corner of his eye. "It will be a short winter, I think, and not an important one as far as general legislation is concerned. The session preceding the Presidential election is usually occupied with making candidates and sharpening up issues."
"What issues will the Democrats develop themselves to sharpening?"
"We shall have only one if you nominate Grant," the third time. "We will need no other issue. On that we Democrats can all agree."
"Who do you want for your candidate?"
"It is not fully settled, I think. However, John Parker, of New Jersey, would be an excellent man. He was a war governor, and has a good record. Probably we shall have to select the candidate from one of the metropolitan States." General Ewing made no allusion to Mr. Tilden.
